Taylor Club Opens Arts-Crafts Show To Area

The Taylor Kiwanis Club will be sponsoring their second annual Arts and Crafts Show and Sale, which will be held "under the big top" a huge circus tent--in the Taylor city park on June 30 and July 1. The show and sale will be open both days from 10 a.m. until 9 p.m.

Artists and craftspeople from throughout Texas will be displaying and selling their work. There will be many different types of exhibits, including paintings, sculptures, needlework, and decoupage. Exhibitors for the show are being contacted at the present time, with approximately 100 exhibitors expected.

Any one interested in exhibiting their work at the show should contact Jodie Blaha, P.O. Box 802, Taylor, Texas, 76574, phone A. C. 512, 352-3636. Full details of the show will be mailed to them, along with registration blanks.

Profits realized from the show and sale will be used to finance the Kiwanis Club's youth activities.

VISITOR FROM SWEDEN - Ingrid Eckman, 19, is visiting in Cameron for about six weeks as guest of the Cameron Evening Lions Club. She is a Lions Exchange Student. She was special guest at the Lions Club Ladies Evening Thursday night, and is now staying with the Milton Wrights. She will also stay with the Douglas Bucks and the Herbert Nances before she leaves, and will be shown Texas scenes by her hosts. See story, Page 5.

County Board Hears Petitions From Both Sides

The Maysfield School District is being annexed to the Cameron School District following action by the county school board Wednesday.

The board voted unanimously for the annexation following the hearing of petitions both for and against the proposition in the District Courtroom Wednesday morning.

Petitions were presented to the board with the petition for annexation bearing 39 signatures and the petition against annexation having 71 signatures.

Discussion by those in favor of the annexation was presented by E. B. Yager, Mrs. Ruth Pittman and Mrs. Virgil Jones. Arguments against the proposal were presented by Walter White, Vaughn Thweatt and Elliot Atkinson.

Supt. D. R. Dodson of the Cameron district and Calvin Cobb, president of the CISD school board, spoke in favor of receiving the district. County board member J. D. Moore spoke at length praising small schools but stated that small schools can not provide services larger schools can.

County School Board Chairman Don Humble called for a motion and Moore offered the motion that the district be annexed. Vote was unanimous.

Dr. Leon Graham of the Texas Education Agency notified Humble and County Schools Supt. Max McClaren by mail Thursday that the annexation process would take effect immediately and is in no way in violation of the law.

Supts. Dodson and McClaren are now making procedural change overs of properties from Maysfield district to the Cameron district. Both are asking the cooperation of trustees of both systems.

The school at Maysfield had an enrollment of 37 students last year, McClaren said, in grades 1-8.

An election to consolidate the two districts last year carried 103-25 in Cameron but was defeated by a vote of 46-23 in Maysfield.

County school board members present included Humble, Moore, Bennie D. Williams of Rockdale, H. L. McMillion of Thorndale, and Willie Glaser of Buckholts.

Court Rules Man Insane

A Houston man who has been indicted for assault with intent to murder was ruled insane at a hearing in W. C. Wallace's 20th District VCourt in Franklin. Dee Layne McReynolds was committed to the state hospital for the criminally insane at the hearing. The indictment stemmed from the shotgun shooting of his mother at Camp Creek March 17. The woman suffered serious spinal damage in the shooting and is paralyzed from the waist down.

Old Fashioned Fourth Planned

CALDWELL

The Caldwell Lions Club is sponsoring an old fashioned Fourth of July celebration at the high school football field. The event will have as its climax an aerial fireworks display. Entertainment will include contest games and dancing. This will be followed by group patriotic singing and a short formal program with a guest speaker. Food and drink for the occasion will be available.

Three Nights Of Rodeo Set

GEORGETOWN

Williamson County's 125th anniversary celebration will conclude with three big nights of rodeo excitement when the Sheriff's Posse stages its 30th annual rodeo. The event is scheduled for June 28, 29, and 30, with performances at 8 p.m. A big, colorful western parade is planned at 4:30 p.m. June 28 to officially kick off the rodeo. Immediately following will be a barbecue in San Gabriel Park. Dances have been planned each night after the arena excitement.

Preference Election Called

SOMERVILLE

The Deanneville Common School District has called a preference election for June 30 to decide whether the people of the district wish to be annexed to the Caldwell Independent School District or the Somerville Independent School District. Although the outcome of the election will not be binding, the County School Board is expected to comply with the vote of the people in taking annexation action concerning the district.

Tickets Due Fire Followers

ROSEBUD

The Rosebud city council passed a new ruling which will mean tickets for persons following fire trucks to fires. Most of the members of the council are also volunteer firemen and they cited a minor fire at a washateria where it was nearly impossible for the firemen to get there because of the crowds.

Massive Remodeling Contract Let

ROCKDALE

City councilmen climaxed more than two years of planning by opening bids and awarding a contract for a massive remodeling and expansion of the city sewage treatment plant. Total cost of the sewage project--necessitated over two years ago when Texas Water Quality Board found the city's present plant to be 200 percent overloaded--will run $457,339 including engineering and legal fees. The city will receive $343,000 in federal funds from the Environmental Protection Agency.

Board Plan Sees Opposition

WACO

A petition containing 4,493 signatures expressing total opposition to the board's proposed desegregation plan was presented to school board members. At the meeting, there was standing room only when the superintendent asked for comments from the audience. An opponent of the plan said "we intend to fight it by any mean."

RC&D Application In Washington

The Executive Council of the Central Texas Resource Conservation and Development Project Area met recently with Wayne Mann, Dalton Caffey and N. N. Newman, representatives of the RC&D sponsors discussing with other sponsors about the future of the RC&D Area.

Primary concern of the group is to accelerate conservation, development and proper use of natural and related resources within the RC&D area. Counties in the Texas RC&D area are Bell, Coryell, Hamilton, Milam, Mills and San Saba.

Gilbert Kretschmar, chairman of the Central Texas RC&D Area, told the council that the group's application for planning has been approved at the state level and given the support of the Governor. He said the application is now in Washington, D. C. for further study and consideration.

Under the RC&D program, Mann said, the federal government with the assistance of local people will plan projects that will benefit a group or a community within the six-county area.

Phases of the program could include recreation lakes, landfills, erosion control, wildlife management and a host of other development and conservation practices.

The projects would be carried out on a cost-share basis with the federal government.

If the application is approved, the ensuing plan would cover the six counties, with each county having its own input into the plan.

Unlike the old REAP program which was discontinued by the federal government, the new program would not be for the benefit of individuals, in other words, an individual cannot apply for funds for a project benefiting himself.

The program is aimed at helping the development and economy of rural districts.

At the meeting, Bob Gordon, project coordinator of the Eastern Hill Country RC&D Project was main speaker. He warned the Central Texas group that it might take longer than anticipated before approval of the application.

He explained that 52 applications are now being considered at the federal level and it might be as long as three years before approval.

"I believe the key is to go ahead and set up your organization as though you were an approved project," he said.

Local Bike Riders Have Fun, Fight Pollution

By Kathryn Kahler

Bicycle riding has seen a revival with more people interested in exercising, fighting the problem of pollution and rationing gasoline.

A. W. McCullin, director of the Urban Renewal program here rides his bicycle to work nearly every day. Says McCullin, "I ride for exercise. It's especially good for my back since I have a problem with it. It's also handy for riding from one job to another. I can just sit on my bike and talk to the contractors."

He started riding his bicycle to work about six months ago. "I borrowed my grandson Albert's bike, but it was stolen. Then I borrowed my grandson Jim's bike. That's the one I ride now."

McCullin rode bikes "back in the 20's when I was a kid. Except for getting on one occasionally, it had been about 45 years since I'd ridden one regularly."

It takes him only six to seven minutes to bicycle downtown from his home on East 13th Street. "And it's so convenient for downtown. I can ride up to a place and jump off. It really turns out to be faster in some cases than a car."

McCullin says he thoroughly enjoys riding. "Everyday I see more men and women riding. It certainly helps pollution."

Another person McCullin has influenced to ride to work is Mrs. Regina Young, an employee at the Urban Renewal office.

Mrs. Young began riding in April after she got a 10-speed bicycle. "I ride just for fun. It really makes me feel good."

Another person who rides "just for fun" is Mrs. Marie Schiller. And Mrs. Schiller has an interesting bicycle--a three wheel town and country bike or as she calls it, a "granny bike."

Mrs. Schiller says she just kept encouraging her husband to buy her a three-wheeler. "And one day, he just walked in with it."

She likes the "granny bike" because "I don't have to balance it with my body. It even has a basket for carrying books, groceries, or children."

Mrs. Schiller, her husband Edward and their son Michael ride bikes together almost everyday. "It's so much fun and a bike is much less confining. We can ride around the neighborhood and see people and stop and visit."

The Schillers had walked and noticed people riding bikes and "it looked like fun." Besides riding in the evening, Mrs. Schiller and Michael rode bikes to school this year.

Mrs. Schiller says the only drawback to her three-wheeler is that "I seem to hit more rocks and bumps on Cameron streets. Also, it's a bit harder to peddle."

Just A County Away....

The least Cameron can do is to send a contingent to Fort Hood June 27 to look at the post developments on one of the world's largest army installation.

Fort Hood officials did send a band to Cameron to lead off the best parade in 25 years.

Beside the day is free and promises to be interesting. Registration at Cameron Chamber offices ended officially Friday, but some of Cameron's quota may be open.

Kids get a kick out of seeing all that equipment and fire power, if a demonstration is planned. And everybody will enjoy a big Army dinner, we're told.

Consider that just one county away is a complex of military personnel and hardware worthy of permanent post status and some of Cameron's resident's seeing it.

A Peculiar Benefit...

We note the Duke of Duval went 72 years before somebody hung something substantial on him.

Well, IRS hung a grand jury indictment on George B. Parr on eight charges of income tax evasion totaling $129,000 and charges by IRS that his income tax under payment for four years was $287,000.

Two school officials have also been indicted by the Corpus Christi grand jury in separate bills.

George B. Parr may be one of the last of the county power bosses in Texas and the rural south to reckon with the mid-20th Century.

In the North, IRS was the only agency of government which could nail Al Capone after a career of gangland mayhem, rackets and vice in Chicago.

If the charges stand against George B. Parr in open court, the IRS will have again done what no other agency of law enforcement could bring about.

This may be one of the peculiar benefits of an annual tax return. Or the lack of an accurate one.

Puppetry Here...

Puppetry will return to Cameron Public Library this Thursday, a unique offering for kids in a small-city library.

Characters bring to life the imaginations of youngsters, not in mere TV or movie images, but in three-dimensional perspective.

If you think your child likes TV cartoons, find out how he or she might really like puppets on a stage here in Cameron.

Check with officials of Cameron Public Library about times. It's a fun thing in summer.

Pope Paul VI Completes Decade In Troubled Time

By Michael Lockley
VATICAN CITY

Reuter-Pope Paul VI, bitterly criticized by both radicals and traditionalists, completes a decade as leader of the Roman Catholic Church in one of the most tortured periods of its 2,000-year history.

At the age of 75, Pope Paul has decided to continue as spiritual head of the world's 600 million Catholics despite the heavy burdens of his office and the turmoil which is still afflicting the church.

Pope Paul, since his election in 1963, has carried forward the work of his well-loved predecessor, Pope John XXIII, in bringing the church into line with the 20th century.

But the frail, ageing pontiff has now apparently reached a turning point in his reign, moving away from the heady reforming spirit of the sixties to consolidate changes already made and to reaffirm the need to maintain tradition.

The changes have been enormous, and in many ways traumatic, although the pressure from radicals for much greater modernization remains strong.

Pope Paul is the first reigning pontiff to travel by plane, to visit all continents, to go on pilgrimage to Jerusalem and to receive communist leaders. He did this without regard for risks to himself, walking calmly through jostling crowds in Jerusalem in 1964 and surviving a knife attack in the Philippines in 1970.

But he has made clear he feels the heavy strain of trying to strike a balance between the claims of change and tradition within the church which have led to major conflicts.

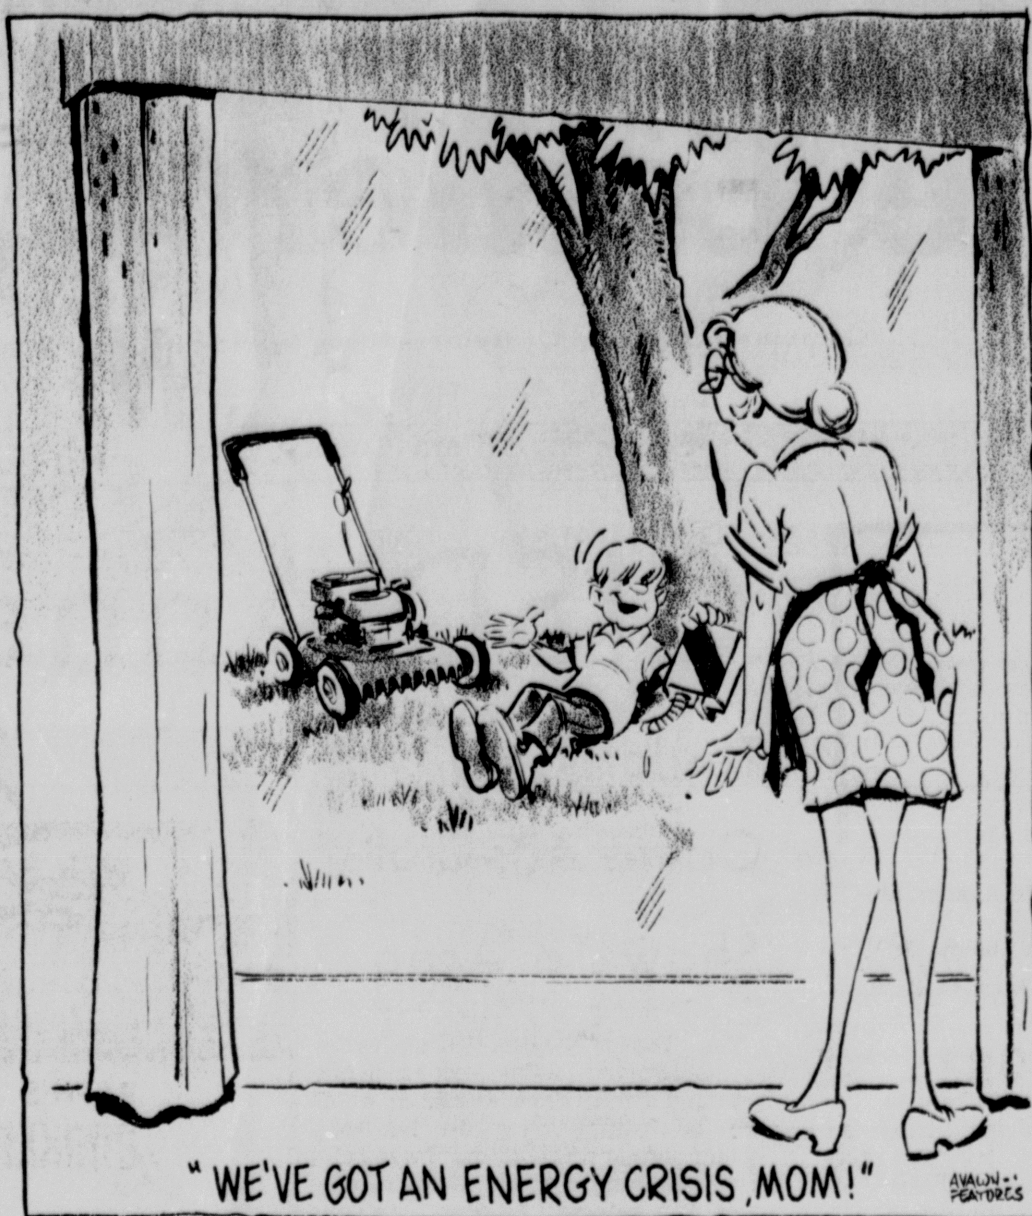

The conservatives accuse him of moving too fast while the reformists charge him with failing to keep alive the reforming spirit of the Vatican council.

Many people, both inside and outside the Vatican, are unhappy with his management of the church and some Vatican officials have attributed to them the recurrent rumors that the pope would resign.

But Pope Paul has made clear with his own actions and statements that the idea of resigning has never crossed his mind, though he has ordered all other Roman Catholic bishops to offer their resignation from administrative posts at 75.

His principal aim after the election was to carry forward the work of modernization started by Pope John, who won approval of modernization started by Pope John, who won approval and acclaim throughout the world.

Sahara Desert Advancing As Drought Grips Africa

By Ronald Farquhar

Reuter - Mighty rivers shrunk to streams, dried-up rice paddies and abandoned villages...carcasses sprawled in scorched wastelands where grass once grew shoulder-high...scores of thousands of thirsty, hungry nomads fleeing in search of water and food.

This is the grim picture drawn by eye-witness reports here of drought in West Africa, where the Sahara Desert is marching south through six countries, its fiery breath devouring cattle and crops in temperatures reaching about 50 degrees centigrade (122 degrees Fahrenheit).

An estimated 20 million people in the Sahel zone, embracing Mauritania, Mali, Chad, Niger, Senegal and Upper Volta, are affected by the drought, reported to be the worst in 60 years.

Herds of camels, sheep, and goats have been decimated, crops ruined, and fishing seriously affected. A top United Nations official described it as "the progressive deterioration of the Sahel environment."

Although there have been no reports of people dying from hunger, a Food and Agriculture Organization (FAO) official spoke of "indirect" casualties amongst breast-fed babies whose mothers had no milk to give them.

Donald Kurtz, sent by the Geneva-based World Council of Churches to report on the situation in the Republic of Niger, described the effects of the drought on the 2,600-mile-long River Niger.

"Just 15 kilometers (about nine miles) northwest of Niamey (the capital of Niger) the Niger spreads out to about a mile in width, with an island of several acres in the middle, and the main channel on the far side," he said.

"We walked more than half a kilometer (about 600 yards) to reach the island, over the dry, jagged, rocky river bottom. The rocks were so sharp that we almost stumbled over a dead sheep in our concentration not to slip or cut ourselves."

"Occasionally small pools of water were left in the rocky river bed. Dozens of children and a few adults used nets, in only a couple of inches of water, and their hands to catch the fish trapped by the receding water."

"Then across the island and another 200 meters (yards) to the channel, which itself was barely 200 meters wide, and so shallow that a man could wade across with the water coming no higher than his waist."

"The mighty Niger River has shrunk to a stream," Henri Chazine, an FAO spokesman just back from a three-weeks visit to Senegal and Mauritania, had a similar story to tell about the Senegal River.

"There is a ferry across the river at a point about 15 kilometers (about 9 miles) from its mouth," he said. "But the level of the river is so low that the ferry can sail only when there is a high tide."

"Normal processes have been reversed and instead of the river flowing into the ocean the opposite happens and you find sea water and sea fish 150 kilometers (94 miles) inland," he said.

"The Sahara Desert has jumped over the Senegal River and advanced about 160 kilometers (100 miles) south," he said.

Grass has been destroyed, upsetting the balance of vegetation, and water holes are drying up, he said.

The Family Lawyer

Rogues' Gallery

Arrested on a charge of gambling, Greg was tried and found not guilty. Later he learned that the police were including his photograph in a public "rogues' gallery," open to inspection by victims of crime.

Greg hastened back into court, this time as a plaintiff. He demanded that the police remove his picture from the gallery, even though they might still consider him a suspicious character.

And the court ordered the police to do just that. Citing Greg's right of privacy, the court said:

"A visitor (to the gallery) might conclude that all the pictures were of criminals. This is not a pleasant thought for one conscious of his innocence."

Most courts agree, frowning on undue publicity given to a person who has been cleared of a criminal charge. Nonetheless, privacy—like all legal rights—has its limits.

Another complaint was filed by a man who had been acquitted of receiving stolen property. He wanted the police to remove his photograph and fingerprints from their private files.

But this time, the court said no. The court said keeping good records is a key to effective police work, adding:

"An accurate identification system may be an assistance not only in finding the guilty criminal but in clearing an innocent suspect."

A different aspect of the problem arose in a homicide case, when the defendant objected to evidence that some years earlier he had been convicted of manslaughter. He said he had already paid his debt to society, and was therefore entitled—under the privacy doctrine—to keep his past a closed book.

But the court ruled that his past could be reopened, because a second offense is more serious than a first offense.

"One who has been convicted of crime (forfeits) whatever right of privacy he may have possessed," said the court, "to the extent that the protection of society requires such forfeiture."

WASHINGTON

Chairman W. R. (Bob) Poage, D-Texas, of the House Committee on Agriculture was informed today that agricultural interests will be fully represented in future meetings of the government's Oil Policy Committee (OPC) to make sure that farmers and ranchers obtain adequate fuel supplies to maintain production.

The assurance comes on the heels of recent action of the House Agriculture Committee, which adopted a resolution drafted by Chairman Poage urging that the Secretary of Agriculture be named to the OPC, which fixes priorities in uses of fuels when demand threatens to exceed supply. OPC Chairman is William F. Simon.

Jimmy Benson is about to learn a lesson in competitive distribution.

Lessons every businessman has to learn. Lessons taught to him by the consumer.

Jimmy is vulnerable to the consumer the moment he decides to go into business. Does he have the right product? The right quality? The right price? The right location? He'll soon find out. The consumer will tell him. And he'd better listen, if he wants to stay in business and become an asset to the community.

That's what being in business is all about—responding to the consumer. Meeting people's constantly changing needs.

As independent businessmen, we believe in competitive distribution. The retail automobile business is built on it. So is every business advertised in this newspaper. And because of competition, you'll never be forced to buy one brand, at one price, from one store. Competition gives you a choice. The result is greater variety, better quality, better service. And, would you believe, even lower prices?

You call the shots. You, the consumer. We wouldn't have it any other way. After all, we're consumers, too.

Scouting Open To Boys In Tejas District Area

Boys who have just completed the second or fifth grades in school are now eligible to become Cub Scouts or Scouts, according to Ron Derry, District Executive of the Tejas District Boy Scouts of America.

The local BSA area has 12 Cub Scout packs and 17 Scout Troops in Tejas District. They are part of the youth program of local religious, educational, civic, fraternal, and other community groups.

"Scouting is for all boys who have completed the fifth grade or who are 11 through 17 years of age," Derry said. "The focus of the program is on rounding out a boy's physical and mental fitness through a vigorous program of activities. They meet once a week as a troop under the guidance of a Scoutmaster and are also members of a smaller group called a patrol."

Derry explained that Cub Scouting is a family-centered program for boys who have completed the second grade or who are 8 through 10 years of age. They meet weekly as a den under the supervision of a den leader. Monthly, all the dens come together for a pack meeting led by a Cubmaster.

"One of the advantages of boys becoming Cub Scouts or Scouts now is that they will be able to get in on the special summer activities," Derry said.

Some of the summer activities are Scout Camp Ta-huaya, Cub Picnics, Outings and Trips.

"There's probably a pack and troop near every boy in our council area," Derry said. "For boys who know friends who are Cub Scouts or Scouts." Information about a neighborhood pack or troop is also available from our council service center, 300 Lake Air Drive, Waco, Texas, 777-8932.

GI Home Loans Are Increasing

The number of G. I. home loans guaranteed by the Veterans Administration in the current fiscal year will likely register the heaviest volume of activity in 16 years, Jack Coker, Veterans Administration Regional Office Director, reported today.

Coker noted that 303,000 loans with a face value of $7 billion were guaranteed in the first 10 months of this fiscal year, up four percent over the 291,500 loans approved in a comparable period of Fiscal Year 1972.

A total of 359,000 loans guaranteed in all of F. Y. 1972, in turn, marked the most active year since F. Y. 1957.

In the Waco Regional Office, 13,872 valued at $289,384, 828 were made for the same period.

Veteran loans for mobile homes increased 40 percent in the first 10 months of this fiscal year, jumping to 4,900 from 3,500 in a comparable period last year.

"Due to circumstances beyond our control..."

Texas Power & Light Company has a long, solid history of providing its customers with reliable electric power at the lowest price consistent with good service. The Company wants electricity to always be one of the biggest bargains in your budget.

However, there are circumstances beyond our control which indicate future electric rate increases are inevitable.

Higher Cost of Fuels The diminishing supply of natural gas and fuel oil has pushed the prices of these generating plant fuels to new highs and is significantly increasing the cost of producing electricity. TP&L's fuel bill was over $40 million last year, 30% higher than in 1971, and it's expected to be even higher in 1973.

Higher Cost of Construction Because of today's energy crisis, new generating plants must be built to operate with other fuels, such as lignite and nuclear materials. These plants are much more costly to build than gas-fueled ones, but to assure you an ample supply of electric power in the future, construction of new facilities is essential—and must be done even though TP&L faces additional rising costs for labor, materials and land.

Higher Cost of Financing The rising cost of money needed to finance new plants and other facilities has been increasing at a staggering rate.

All of these circumstances are beyond our control—and they make producing your electricity much costlier than ever before. However, TP&L will continue to use every practical method and every possible efficiency to keep the price of electricity low and still provide you with dependable electric service in the years ahead.

Brezhnev's Visit Intent On Massive Agreements

By Vincent Buist
MOSCOW
Reuter--Soviet party leader Leonid Brezhnev is in Washington this week for a summit meeting with President Nixon intent on propelling improved Soviet-American relations into the realm of solid, practical agreements.
The main Soviet thrust now is towards massive technical and economic agreements involving long-term western investment and skills in developing the natural riches of the vast Siberian wilderness.
The Kremlin is thinking broadly in terms of 20, 30 and even 40 years ahead on these mammoth billion-dollar contracts to bring natural gas, oil, chemicals and minerals out of the frozen earth.
Brezhnev also probably hopes to bring home with him some additional window dressing treaties-possibly involving further stages of agreement in the limitation of strategic arms and troop reductions in central Europe.

Following the American pullout from Vietnam, the way is clear for some big-power understanding on the Middle East to be embodied in a policy statement between the White House and the Kremlin, observers here believe.
The Kremlin clearly hopes that the continuing Watergate crisis will not distract Nixon from negotiating and implementing new agreements aimed at further reducing the strains between the two powers in world affairs, especially in the Mediterranean.
Brezhnev would obviously have liked to bring home an agreement guaranteeing Soviet exports to the United States on a most-favored nation basis. But congressional opposition, based partly on its confrontation with Nixon and even more so on dislike of Soviet Emigration policies-particularly the ban on prominent Jews being able to emigrate-have ruled this out at this stage.

The Brezhnev visit, from June 18 to 26, is described as a "business visit in which much of the color and pomp of a personal tour of the country will be replaced by private meetings at places like Nixon's retreat at Camp David.
This has been arranged deliberately to protect Brezhnev from harassment by Jewish militants and other who dislike Soviet policies.

No program has been published but apart from a series of private talks with Nixon, it is possible that the Soviet leader will study American space techniques at the space center in Houston. He might also visit car plants in Chicago, and the farm belt area of the mid-west.

Boy Scouts At Camp

Boy Scout Troop 752 is attending Camp Tahuaya, Scout Camp of the Heart O' Texas Council near Belton. The scouts are in camp for one week, checking in on Sunday afternoon.
Attending camp are Stephen Anderle, David Fincher, David Krenek, Michael Marek, Allen Richardson, Tom Williams, Timothy Mitchan, Joseph Posival, and Stephen Thompson. Felix Matula is Scoutmaster.
The troop is sponsored by the Knights of Columbus.
The boys are housed in tents and will be working on various Scout skills and working on many outdoor merit badges.

Success Comes To Roberta Flack

By Bruce Russell
HOLLYWOOD
Reuter-Black singing star Roberta Flack says that throughout her career she has concentrated on perfecting her art rather than success.
But success came anyway last year and this with her two major hits "The First Time Ever I Saw Your Face" and "Killing Me Softly With His Song" and with it one major drawback--it broke up her seven-year-old marriage.
Of the reasons for the breakup she said: "It was due to the normal strains that take place in our country when a wife is suddenly successful."
"It was difficult for him and I can understand it because its almost like a challenge for your personality."
"The shoe could have been on the other foot and I would have had every right to be extremely depressed. It destroys your self-confidence."
The most Africa-oriented of the triumvirate of major black female stars--Diana Ross, Aretha Franklin and Miss Flack--she recently announced she would tour nine African countries later this year to raise funds for medicine for rural Africa.

She formerly wore her hair in the "Afro" style used by Angela Davis but now sets off a more conventional hairdo with a few African braids on each side.
The countries she will tour include Niger, Senegal, Liberia, Ivory Coast, Ghana and Togo.
Born in Asheville, North Carolina, she had both a musical and a strongly religious upbringing. Her mother played the church organ and both her father and her younger brother are experienced pianists.
Her religious and musical background as well as a passion for art galleries and classical painting are reflected in her latest project, a television musical on the life of Christ based on Rembrandt's paintings.
She viewed 371 Rembrandts and has so far written most of the words and music for 18 songs which will be used in her "Birth, life and death of Jesus Christ as seen through the eyes of Rembrandt."
The show is to appear on a national television chain

Story Hour Slated To Begin Thurs.

The Story Hour at the Cameron Public Library will begin Thursday June 28, according to Mrs. Skeet McElwath, coordinator for the program.

It will include stories and a puppet show for preschoolers through second graders, and will be held every Thursday during the summer.

Karla Stanislaw and Leslie Luecke will present the puppet show and Susie Tumlinson will tell the story at the first program.

Scheduled for June 26 is a magic show to be given by Ronnie Thweatt at the Library. The magic show is for children ages 7-12. It will begin at 10:30 and end at 11:30.

PROTECTIVE MEASURE
Shaving was originally a protective measure since long beards were easy for opponents in combat to seize.

Clear As Crystal

A tall glass of amber-clear iced tea is one of the delights of summer. So have a pitcherful on hand day and night to quench hot weather thirsts and revive heat-wilted spirits. Make the tea the easy, no-work way using cold tap water and teabags. The tea will be crystal clear, you can store it in the refrigerator, and it will never cloud. Just be sure to start it well ahead of time because it takes time for the cold water to extract the flavor from the tea leaves. Start a batch in the morning to use in the afternoon or make it in the evening so it'll be ready for the next day. Here's how you do it:

- Cold Water Method For Cloudless Iced Tea
- Fill a quart pitcher or container with cold tap water.
- Add 8-10 teabags (remove tags). Cover.
- Let stand at room temperature or in the refrigerator for 6 hours or overnight.
- Remove teabags, squeezing against side of container.
- When ready to serve, pour into ice-filled glasses. Makes 5 to 6 servings.

Swedish Girl Visits Cameron, Tours Texas Sites

By Kathryn Kahler

"It's so warm here. At home we don't have air conditioning because we don't need it," said Ingrid Ekman, a 19 year old Lion's Club Exchange Student from Sweden.

Ingrid, who will be visiting in Cameron until July 20, is presently living with the Milton Wright family.

During her visit, she will also stay with the Douglas Bucks and the Herbert Nancess. When she leaves Cameron, she will fly to New York, where she will sight-see for three days before returning to Gothenburg, Sweden, her hometown.

Ingrid is one of thirty-two Swedes, all children of Lions in Sweden, visiting in Texas. During her Texas visit, the Wrights plan to take her to Johnson City, Austin and the capitol building, San Marcos, New Braunfels, and an Inner Space Cave in Georgetown, as well as places near Cameron like Copeland's in Rockdale for Texas barbecue.

Since she arrived Tuesday, she has been to a fish farm, to eat pizza, and has spoken to the Evening Lions Club.

When she returns to Sweden, she will enter what is our equivalent of the junior college. She lives with her brother in a flat in Gothenburg, where he attends the University.

Ingrid is especially interested in painting, but would like to pursue a career in restaurant management. "My sister and her husband do that and I think I would like to do something similar, but I could change my mind. Only two months ago I thought I wanted to work with mentally retarded children."

Ingrid's parents live only about forty-five minutes from Gothenburg, and own a hospital for the mentally retarded. "For the past three summers I've worked at the hospital, entertaining them, and teaching them simple English and mathematics." Ingrid's activities at the hospital seemed to be similar to those of the candy strippers here in the United States.

Additionally, she is a member of a University club and works at a pub for the club on Friday nights. She explained that entertainment was different from the United States. "We have more group activities, and we don't date as much. All our entertainment is more formal. We have dances at the pub three nights a week.

"We also entertain outside a lot in the summer. Often we will cook and eat out in the gardens. We have to take advantage of the light because it is dark in the winter," said Ingrid.

The petite Swede enjoys cooking and doing things in the home. "I'm not much of an outdoors person, and I'm not sporty."

Ingrid is a member of the Swedish Lutheran Church. "At home only the old people are expected to go to church every Sunday. It is not stressed for the younger people to go to church quite that often."

One thing that has amazed Ingrid is how little Americans walk. "At home we walk everywhere." She said that there is also much bicycling in Sweden, however, she does not bicycle. "We have a contest at home for bicyclers. Points are given for those who go the farthest."

The Lions Exchange program is not new to Ingrid's family. Her brother, now 24 and a student at the University, was an exchange student when he was 19. He spent his time in Texas in the Abilene area. "My brother had told me about Abilene. It's so much greener here."

Ingrid's younger sister, now 18, will come to Texas next year as a part of the Lions Exchange program.

Personal Mention

Mrs. Lillian York and daughter Estelle, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Shaw and family and Ronnie West and family visited in Arlington over last weekend and some went to Six Flags. They returned home Sunday afternoon.

TWINS ARRIVE-To Mr. and Mrs. Albert Milton from Milano, the twins, a boy and a girl, were born June 21 at St. Edward Hospital, Carala Roberta, 5 pounds, 4 ounces arrived first, followed by her brother, Douglas Justus, 4 pounds 14 1/2 ounces. Grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Sanford Williams of Huntsville and Mrs. Edna Milton of Milano.

Coast Guard Lists New Regulations For Equipment

If you're trying to keep up with the Joneses, make sure it's not Davy.

During National Safe Boating Week, July 1-7, the Texas Safety Association urges boaters to start early to meet new Texas lifesaving equipment regulations by stocking Coast Guard approved personal flotation devices (PFD) for every passenger in their boats.

The new PFD regulations which align with regulations for boating in federal waters, will be enforced in Texas beginning October 1, according to George William Perry of Dallas, Vice President for recreation of TSA.

All personal flotation devices will be classified into five performance types specified for various boat sizes, explained Perry.

On recreational boats sixteen feet and longer, there must be a Coast Guard approved wearable device for each person aboard the boat. In addition, one throwable device must be carried.

On boats under 16 feet in length, and all canoes and kayaks, the familiar buoyant cushion will continue to be acceptable: One cushion for each person on board. However, the Coast Guard recommends the use of wearable personal flotation devices.

"The new requirements give boatmen some flexibility and guidance in determining which PFDs to purchase and use aboard their boats," said Perry.

"If boatmen begin to secure their equipment during National Safe Boating Week they will avoid the risk of a fine later, and, more importantly, they may save a life," Perry added.

At least half of the 2,800 recreational drowning victims in the United States last year never intended going into the water, according to the TSA vice president. He said most of the "surprise victims" were not wearing lifesaving devices--and none were available.

Boatmen should be familiar with the distinctions between the different types in order to decide which type of device is best suited for particular waterborne activities.

A Type I device is a PFD designed to turn an unconscious person from a face-down position in the water to a slightly vertical or slightly backward position. A Type I device must have more than 20 pounds of buoyancy. The familiar "life jacket" is such a device.

A PFD designated as a Type II is also constructed to turn an unconscious person to a face-up vertical or slightly backward position. It has at least 15.5 pounds of buoyancy. A "buoyant vest" exemplifies a Type II device.

A Type III device is one designed to keep a conscious person in a vertical or slightly backward position, and to have at least 15.5 pounds of buoyancy. Among PFDs in the first three categories, Type III is the most comfortable to wear, however it should be remembered that it is designed to right into a face-up position only the conscious victim.

OUTDOORS IN TEXAS

BY VERN SANFORD

Rules of the water are as important as rules of the road. You think not? Well, the way water regulations are ignored lots of people must think that way too. But it's a matter of lack of information—we hope.

Very few people who venture out into the water, with a boat of any kind, size or shape (from little canoes to big runabouts), really know waterway regulations.

This is hardly true of those who helm the large cruisers on our mammoth impoundments, and certainly not true of those who man the great seagoing rigs on our Gulf waters... for the latter are checked and double-checked periodically by the Coast Guard.

But the little fellows who steer the fishing boats and the small pleasure craft are neglected. That is, we don't have the critical overseers to make us learn the rules and adhere to them. And it's typically true that what you're made to do, you do—and what you aren't forced to do, you don't.

This is not a criticism of law officials, or to urge a clamp down on the negligent. It's just a gentle reminder to you and to me to ship up and to brush up on our jargon, our knowledge of boating, and our ability to "put to sea" safely and to operate our boats courteously.

When the State of Texas chose its "DRIVE FRIENDLY" slogan (thanks to former newspaperman Weldon Hart), it selected a simple but potent motto that grows on you. Really, it's surprising how many accidents can be attributed to anger. But they are not limited to cars and roadways, or to airplanes and airways, but also to boats and waterways.

To me driving friendly on the water is more important to living than driving friendly on the highway. It's bad enough to have a collision on the highway but it doubly dangerous on water, for there you may survive the crash but you still face the serious danger of drowning.

That's double jeopardy. Only a mid-air plane collision could be worse.

PROPERTY FOR SALE
Downtown Urban Renewal Agency

FOR COMMERCIAL DEVELOPMENT

Downtown Cameron on the Mall, "WHERE THE ACTION IS."

INVITATION FOR BIDS

THE CITY OF Cameron, Texas, a municipal corporation organized and existing under the laws of the State of TEXAS, acting by and through Cameron Urban Renewal Agency, duly approved and appointed Local Public Agency, invites bids for the purchase and redevelopment of the following described real estate located in the City of Cameron, Texas, County of Millam, located within the Cameron Urban Renewal Area, Project No. TEX. R-108, herewith:

No. of Lots, Measurement, Address, Fair Market Value, 1, 25'x123', 104 East 1st St., 3,075SF, (Former H. Dreyer Pro), Block 8 Parcel 4, $4,500.00

1, 30'x105', 207 East 1st St. 3,150 sf, (Former Green Pro) Block 13 Parcel 12, $3,200.00

1, 36'x85', 107 East Main St. (Former Lowenstein Pro) Block 16 Parcel 3, $3,900.00

1, 28'x80'x24'x210', 108-9 East Main, 7,280 SF, (Former Eplen Pro) Block 16 Parcel 4, $5,200.00

1, 60'x115', Corner 1st & Central (Former Dusek Pro) Block 9 Parcel 7, $8,600.00

Said property will be or is zoned for Commercial uses, as defined in the Urban Renewal Redevelopment Plan for said Project.

Bids may be submitted, either for an individual lot, for any number or combination of lots, or for the entire group of lots as a whole.

brief narrative description of improvements the bidder will construct upon the property if his bid is accepted.

Bids shall be submitted at the Office of the said Local Public Agency, at 112 East 1st Street, prior to 10:00 a.m., on July 10, 1973.

Bids will be opened at a public meeting held for that purpose at the Urban Renewal Office in Cameron, on July 10, 1973, and on each Tuesday thereafter at 10 A.M., until property has been sold, at revocable for 30 days following such meeting.

A pre-established price has been approved as being not less than the fair value for subject land. No bid offering less than the minimum price will be considered. The award will be made upon specific criteria as specified below:

Restrictions will be those as set out in Part I of the Cameron Urban Renewal Program, requiring a building be built on property purchased, which meets all codes and ordinances of the City of Cameron, and complying with the Urban Renewal Program. Parking lots may be permitted if they conform to Urban Renewal Standards and Plan.

The Local Public Agency must also consider the Bidder's financial and legal ability to improve the property. No bid will be accepted unless deemed by the Local Public Agency to be in the Public Interest.

The Cameron Urban Renewal Agency reserves the right to reject any and all bids and to waive any and all irregularities that might appear in any bid.

All purchasers of property in the Urban Renewal Project will be required to sign a redevelopment agreement to build a building meeting Urban Renewal Standards.

Further information regarding the property and obligations required of a purchaser thereof may be obtained at the Urban Renewal Office, 112 East 1st Street, Cameron, Texas.

Learn To Swim This Summer

The annual warm-weather stampede is on. The object, water--t h e reason, recreation.

Those first few balmy days of spring whip humans into a frenzy to get to the water and have some fun. Unfortunately, a number of these folks will forget one important detail--they don't know how to swim.

This accounts for many needless tragedies each year, according to Texas Parks and Wildlife Department officials.

"It's important to know your limitations when you get close to water," says Clayton Garrison, executive director of the department. "Our game wardens report that many drownings occur when the victims find themselves in situations in which survival is beyond their ability."

Non-swimmers step in deep holes while wading or fall out of boats or off docks.

Swimmers sometimes misjudge distances. They can't make it out shore from a stalled boat or across the pond or lake when they are challenged on a dare.

"The best advice we could anyone is to learn to swim," says Garrison. "Learning to swim will open up whole new opportunities to enjoy the outdoors. And it could save your life."

"At the very least," says Garrison, "non-swimmers should wear life jackets when they are around water."

Jehovah's Witnesses To Hold Convention In Astrodome

The Astrodome in Houston has been set as the scene for a large convention of Jehovah's Witnesses July 4 to 8 where over 80,000 are expected in the State's largest religious convention. Sponsored by the Watchtower Bible and Tract Society of New York, it will be one in a series of international gatherings.

Twenty-three local Witnesses are expected to participate in the Houston sessions, in both English and Spanish. Other meetings during June and July are planned for large stadiums in Detroit, Chicago, Los Angeles, Oakland, Pittsburgh, Kansas City, Philadelphia and Atlanta. Spanish sessions in Houston will be held at Sam Houston Coliseum, July 25 to 29.

Internationally, five conventions have been arranged for Canada, twelve in Europe, five in Asia, seventeen in South and Central America, three in the South Pacific and seven in Africa during 1973.

Theme of the worldwide conventions is "Divine Victory" and will stress the Witnesses' belief in the certainty of Divine intervention in human affairs in order for man's problems to reach an ultimate and permanent solution.
